

The IRS will soon be issuing Economic Impact Payments to every eligible American:

- Eligible individuals with adjusted gross income up to $75,000 will automatically receive the full $1,200 payment.
- Eligible married couples filing a joint return with adjusted gross income up to $150,000 will automatically receive the full $2,400 payment.
- Parents also get $500 for each eligible child under 17.

To find out more please visit www.irs.gov/coronavirus.

El IRS pronto emitirá pagos de impacto económico a todos los estadounidenses elegibles:

- Las personas elegibles con ingresos brutos ajustados de hasta $75,000 para los contribuyentes solteros, son elegibles para $1,200.
- Las personas elegibles con ingresos brutos ajustados de hasta $150,000 para los contribuyentes casados que presentan una declaración conjunta, son elegibles para $2,400.
- Además, son elegibles para recibir $500 adicionales por hijo calificado.

Para mas información, por favor visita www.irs.gov/coronavirus.

FAQ -

How will I receive this money?

The automatic payment will go to the same place your tax returns do. If you've set up an automatic deposit to receive tax returns, this payment will use that information. Otherwise, a paper check will be mailed to the most recent address on record.

If you would like to set up automatic deposits, please fill out and send in form I-8888:
<https://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/f8888.pdf>.

If you don't have a savings or checking account and would like to investigate some options, please email info@soundoutreach.org or visit www.soundoutreach.org to check out local options.

"For security reasons, the IRS plans to mail a letter about the economic impact payment to the taxpayer's last known address within 15 days after the payment is paid. The letter will provide information on how the payment was made and how to report any failure to receive the payment. If a taxpayer is unsure they're receiving a legitimate letter, the IRS urges taxpayers to visit IRS.gov first to protect against scam artists."

– www.IRS.gov/coronavirus/economic-impact-payment-information-center

Do I Need to Do Anything?

Have you filed either 2018 or 2019 taxes?

- Yes -> you're good to go. The IRS will use the information in the most recent one to calculate the payment. If you've only filed 2018 taxes, the tax deadline has been extended to July 15, 2020
- I don't usually file: (check out <https://www.irs.gov/help/ita/do-i-need-to-file-a-tax-return> to see if you will need to file)

- I receive Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits -> you're good to go. The IRS will use information on the Form SSA-1099 and Form RRB-1099 to generate Economic Impact Payments.
- I did not file a 2018 or 2019 federal income tax return because my gross income was under $12,200 / $24,400 for married couples (this includes people who had no income) or other reason -> There's a new tool available. <https://www.irs.gov/coronavirus/non-filers-enter-payment-info-here> The IRS has their site up for those who need to give them their bank account information. Specifically for:
 - Had gross income that did not exceed $12,200 ($24,400 for married couples) for 2019 and were not otherwise required to file a federal income tax return for 2019, and didn't plan to
 - Find more info Here -> <https://www.irs.gov/newsroom/treasury-irs-launch-new-tool-to-help-non-filers-register-for-economic-impact-payments>

I have an ITIN, am I eligible to receive this payment?

Unfortunately no, to receive the stimulus payment every recipient must have a valid social security number - www.IRS.gov/coronavirus/economic-impact-payment-information-center

- For families where one parent has a social security number and the other does not, the current understanding is the family member with the social security number may file as a head-of-household and receive the $1,200 for individuals plus $500 for eligible children. There is not clear guidance at this point on how to address that ambiguity.

Am I eligible to receive this payment if I made more than $75,000/$150,000 last year?

Yes, up to a point:

“For filers with income above those amounts, the payment amount is reduced by $5 for each $100 above the $75,000/$112,500/$150,000 thresholds. Single filers with income exceeding $99,000, $136,500 for head of household filers and $198,000 for joint filers with no children are not eligible and will not receive payments.”

– www.IRS.gov/coronavirus/economic-impact-payment-information-center